DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-18 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 3-10, 12- 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Robbins et al (US. Patent 6,532,463 B1) in view of Zaremba (US. Patent 6,216,164 B1).

3. As to claim 1, Robbins teaches the invention substantially as claimed including: the client device (computer 10, col 4, ln 60-67/ col 7, ln 18-45/ Fig. 1), message tool for requesting a connection (connection intermediate to computers 10 and Web server 12, col 4, ln 65-67), sending a request string (supplying this information, col 7, ln 25-30), mainframe connection tools for creating a reference (button select one of the menu items/ enter a student identification number, col 7, ln 17-30), accessing result stored on the server( a book store may have a Web Server that allows customers and potential customers access to information, col 1, ln 28-33), a server object( Web Server, col 3, ln 20-30/ ln 45-65/10/20), interfacing for utilizing a server object ( program on a web server to extract and format data from forms that are submitted from a Web Browser, col 5, ln 37-42), mainframe computer( col 3, ln 20-30/col 5, ln 15-20/ 35-45), sending the request string to the mainframe computer( upon the student supplying this information, the Web server pass it to mainframe 16, col 7, l n 25-30/ l n 35-45/ l n 55-67), receiving response from mainframe computer( send its back to the user via the web server, col 8, l n 20-27, a result received ( the Web pages , col 8, l n 20-27), a main controller( the web control program, col 5, l n 15-20/ col 3, l n 10-30/ col 4, l n 1-5), a program for obtaining a result( a subroutine, col 3/ regacy subroutine, col 3, l n 20-25/ col 6, l n 5-15/ a CICS listener program such as supplied by IBM for use on the mainframe 16, col 55-67/EAGLE, col 7, l n 41-44)/ EAGLE subroutine, col 6, l n 6-11), a result( web page , col 8, l n 20-27), set of tools ( programs for performing above actions of client, server and mainframe. Client, server and mainframe must have a set of programs in order to perform actions above/ a set of development tools, col 6, l n 5-12).

4. Robbins does not explicit teaches a storage for the result. However, Velarde teaches storage for the result (service information is retrieved from the appropriate databases 30, 32 and 34 for storage in the mid-range database 20, col 4, l n 25-30).

5. It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Robbin and Velarde because Velarde's storage in the mid-range database 20 would avoids repetitive processing, in the case of duplicate request or avoids the corrupting of a previous request due to a request that actually conflicts with a previous entered request.

6. As to claim 3, Robbins teaches identifying a result (col 3, l n 25-30), the mainframe (col 3, l n 25-30).

7. As to claim 4, Robbins teaches identifies one of a plurality searches (col 3, l n 30-35), policy data (col 3, l n 25-30).

Art Unit: 2126

8. As to claim 5, Robbins teaches subcontroller (subroutine, col 3, ln 21-25).
9. As to claim 6, Robbins teaches the result is embedded in a response string (col 7, ln 28-30).
10. As to claim 7, Velarde teaches a non-zero value of the return code indicates an error (error message, col 4, ln 9-10).
11. As to claim 8, Robbins teaches the first four characters of the response string (state key is generated based on ID, col 3, ln 25-35).
12. As to claim 9, Velarde teaches the server storage (the mid-range database 20, col 4, ln 25-30).
13. As to claims 10, 12-17, they are apparatus claims of claims 1, 3-8; therefore, they are rejected for the same reasons as claims 1, 3-8 above.
14. As to claim 18, Robbins teaches error message (an error noted, col 8, ln 58-67).
15. Claims 2, 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Robbins et al (US. Patent 6,532,463 B1) in view of Zaremba (US. Patent 6,216,164 B1) and further in view of Hayne (US. Patent 6,510,468 B1).
16. As to claim 2, Robbins and Zaremba do not teach the set of client tools, comprise a JAVA class. However, Hayne teaches client 104 such as JAVA, col 5, ln 1-3/ ln 57-60).
17. It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Robbins and Zaremba because Zaremba's client such as

Art Unit: 2126

JAVA would provide an organization with the benefit of total flexibility connecting with a mainframe.

18. As to claim 11, it is an apparatus claim of claim 2; therefore, it is rejected for the same reason as claim 2 above.
